4. Unified Play Day programme organized by General & Adapted Physical Education and Yoga (GAPEY)

Our college of Education Student Teachers participated unified play festival on 24.02.2023 organized by GAPAIEY to get awareness about adapted physical education and yoga of differently abled person. The main objective of the Unified Play Day (UPD) is to provide a multi-factorial approach towards children with disabilities by providing them equal opportunities that are enjoyed by the normal children. Moreover, the Unified Play Day being a social gathering of large number of parents of children with disabilities, is a platform for interaction among them.

In conclusion, participating in events like the unified play festival can help student teachers learn more about adapted physical education and yoga for differently-abled individuals, and can also raise awareness about the importance of inclusivity and accessibility in education. It's important for future teachers to have a broad understanding of the needs of all their students, and events like this can help them gain that understanding.

2. Observation (Teaching Phase I)

As a part of the Bachelor of Education (B.Ed) program, the students are required to undergo observation teaching practice in schools to gain hands-on experience in teaching. From 13.02.2023 to 10.03.2023, a group of B.Ed students from our college went for observation teaching practice in various schools.

They observed the classes of different teachers and noted down the teaching methods used, teaching aids, and classroom management techniques. They also observed how the teacher communicated with the students, how they motivated the students and how they handled difficult situations in the classroom.

After observing the classes, the students were given an opportunity to interact with the teacher and clarify their doubts. They were also asked to prepare lesson plans for the topics they observed and presented them in front of their peers and faculty members.

During the observation teaching practice, the students were closely monitored by the faculty members of our college, who regularly visited the schools and interacted with the students and the teachers. They provided feedback to the students on their teaching skills and suggested ways to improve them. The observation teaching practice was a valuable learning experience for the B.Ed students. It enabled them to apply the theoretical knowledge gained during their course in real-life situations and provided them with practical teaching experience. The program also exposed the students to

3. Students Seminars

Students are required to participate in seminars for both their core and optional subjects. These seminars provide students with the opportunity to delve deeper into their subject matter and learn from experts in their field. In this report, I will summarize the key points and outcomes of these seminars.

The core subjects of a B.Ed., program include pedagogy, psychology, educational philosophy, and teaching methods. Seminars for these subjects were held throughout the academic year, and they covered a range of topics. The seminars aimed to help students develop a strong foundation in these subjects and to apply them to their teaching practice.

The seminars were led by experienced teachers and education experts who shared their insights and strategies with the students. The students were able to ask questions and engage in discussions with the speakers and their peers. The feedback from the students was positive, with many reporting that they found the seminars to be informative and helpful in their teaching practice.

The seminars for B.Ed., students in both core and optional subjects were informative and helpful in building the foundation of their knowledge and skills. The seminars helped the students gain a deeper understanding of the subject matter and provided them with new strategies and techniques to apply in their teaching practice. Overall, the seminars were a valuable learning experience for the B.Ed., students, and they contributed to their growth and development as educators.

The Mentor-Mentee system is active throughout the academic year. The mentors offered active guidance and take remedial measure if necessary to the mentees as they navigate their under graduate programme of teacher education. The mentors used to collect personal information from their mentees discretely, keeping in mind that certain issues might be sensitive and with care to ensure that all information volunteered by the wards are of their free will. This was done so that the mentor cognizant the context of his mentees and can offer effective assistance.

For the academic year 2022-2023, the formal group meetings of the mentor with his mentees were conducted on 27.07.2022, 03.10.2022, 29.10.2022, 17.11.2022, 13.02.2023 and 02.03.2023. Apart from group meetings, the mentors meet the mentee individually on the basis of felt need, observed or addressed.

The mentors aim to create a conducive environment for their mentees. Additionally, they offer career guidance and personal counselling to ensure that their wards received all the assistance they need.
